LOCATION - East Longmeadow, a 124-year old residential community just south of Springfield on the Connecticut border, is a dynamic town with a population of approximately 16,000. Parked between Longmeadow and Wilbraham (two of the highest income towns in the western part of the state), our community is a vibrant one with pizza parlors and tiny lunch stops situated between factories and small businesses. According to the 2013 census, the median income for a household was $77,084. The Department of Revenue reports that East Longmeadow has an 8.1% unemployment rate. The racial makeup of the town is 93.0% White, 1.3% African American, 0.06% Native American, 2.4% Asian, 0.1% from other races, and 0.9% from two or more races. Town athletic fields are constantly occupied with a myriad of activities and plenty of spectators. There is enthusiastic interest in the schools and all aspects of the development of young people.

TYPE – ELHS is a four-year comprehensive high school, built in 1960, with an enrollment of approximately 870.
